

How to open recently closed tabs in Google Chrome.

One option that Google Chrome offers is the ability to open recently closed tabs or websites. This is very convenient if you have accidentally closed a tab or multiple tabs that contained a website that you need. This will also work if you closed the complete browser accidentally.

1. Open a new tab in Google Chrome.
2. At the bottom right of the window click the “Recently closed” button.
3. Click the tab or set of tabs that you would like to open.

This will reopen the closed tab or tabs that you selected. In the example below I closed Google Chrome with 5 tabs open. Then I opened Chrome and used the recently closed button to reopen all 5 tabs. If you have questions please contact your DASNR IT Support Specialist.
